A Long View of Canadian History

The text of two programs seen on CBC television, June 16th and 30th, 1959, in which Donald Creighton, Professor of History at the University of Toronto and one of Canada's leading historians, was interviewed by Paul Fox, Professor of Political Science at the University of Toronto. The sessions presented stimulating views on the whole range of Canadian history and on the way Canada has been shaped by her past; they are offered now in an attractive booklet under the general heading of Script. Is the "Frontier" theory of U.S. historical development applicable to Canada? Has there been a grand design in Canadian statesmanship? What was the real importance of the War of 1812 and of subsequent rebellions? What is French-speaking Canada's unique historical role? What is the most important single event in Canadian history? The St. Lawrence Seaway: should Canada have built it herself? These are some of the aspects of the nation's history placed in sharp focus by eminent historian Creighton and incisive questioner Fox.

"In these two broadcasts Creighton has made our history come alive in a way that all the school textbooks never seem able to do."

On CBC Wednesday Night

Coming to Terms with Tolstoy

*A documentary about an unusual
Russian writer*

LEO TOLSTOY was the first Russian writer to acquire world-wide fame, yet success meant little to him. Born into the landed aristocracy, he later gave up all rights to his land, inherited fortune and income from his royalties, and died while fleeing from his ancestral home and its comforts, to appease his conscience. The contradictions that made up this unusual and vital man will be explored on CBC Wednesday Night in a radio documentary by Margaret Avison called Coming to Terms With Tolstoy. Miss Avison is a Toronto poetess and short story writer.

She asks: "How can we approach a man so full of contraries? It is like listening to a complicated fugue. Each voice must come through if the whole is to take shape for us. His fellow-writers are perhaps the most trustworthy witnesses . . . Turgenev, who was at the peak of his career when he met the young Tolstoy; or Gorky, who remembered and recorded conversations from the last period of Tolstoy's life. Both men found themselves often at odds with him."

From their letters, diaries and other recollections Miss Avison has selected extracts to point up various aspects of Tolstoy's colourful personality, and from his own writings she quotes descriptions of people and events that throw further illumination on him as man, husband, father, teacher and writer. There's his description of a day in the life of a middle-class gentleman, of a trip to a slaughterhouse and to a guillotine, and an account of a day or two at the progressive school he founded and conducted on his estate about a hundred miles south of Moscow.

Alan King will be heard as narrator, John Drainie as Tolstoy, Ivor Barry as Turgenev, John Bethune as Gorky, and John Clark as Count Ilya Tolstoy.

BBC Introduces New TV Technique

The new BBC system which enabled viewers in Canada and the United States to see television newsfilm of Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh leaving Britain for their tour of Canada in a matter of two hours after their departure from London, and in the reverse direction brought pictures of their arrival at St. John's, Newfoundland, to BBC—and European—television screens within three hours of their arrival, adds another proud "first" to the achievements of the Engineering Division of the BBC, which gave Britain the first public television service in the world, sent the first television pictures across the English Channel, and has been responsible for many other technical advances in sound and television broadcasting.

The British Prime Minister, Sir Harold Macmillan, visited the BBC Television News studios at Alexandra Palace and saw the new electronic equipment demonstrated a few days before the public saw the first newsfilm pictures on their screens. He said "This latest development is obviously going to be one of great importance and I give my warmest congratulations to all those both on the scientific and administrative sides who have contributed to it."

This significant development, which makes use of an entirely new technique, follows an earlier pioneer effort made by BBC Television News in 1957, and has been made possible by the transatlantic telephone cable which is regularly used for sound radio broadcasts. There are as yet no facilities for transmitting live television pictures across the Atlantic either by cable or by radio, which is much more difficult than sending speech or photographs. The new BBC system enables pictures from film to be transmitted over the transatlantic cable at slow speed within its capacity, and re-assembled at the

SHE sings, she plays the piano and the accordion, she flies her own plane, she arranges music for orchestra, and she's beautiful.

She's Joan Fairfax, whose summer show, it was announced recently, has been extended into the fall TV schedule.

Born in Pickup, England, Joan came to Canada (Oakville, Ontario) when she was two. Five years later her mother took the family back to Great Britain where Joan's aunt began giving her piano lessons. When the family returned to Oakville Joan's school teacher encouraged her to take singing lessons; soon she began winning medals. Her parents also bought her an accordion on which Joan practiced her own compositions.

At 16 Joan began touring with concert parties during the war. At one RCAF base she met her husband, Tommy Higgins, and they were married the next year.

Then followed work as waitress in her husband's restaurant, classical training at the Royal Conservatory when her husband went into real estate, singing with Art Hallman's band, then night club, radio, and TV appearances.

Before her own Joan Fairfax Show started this summer, Joan was seen on 'Cross-Canada Hit Parade, The Denny Vaughan Show, and The Wayne and Shuster Show. She was elected "Miss TV of Canada" before TV came to Canada on the basis of her appearances on U.S. television.

Wednesday on CBWT"Football Huddle"

Coach Bud Grant and sportscaster Jack Wells return with more views on Canada's favourite sport

Within the next few days the WIFU season gets under way with the first game between the Winnipeg Blue Bombers and the British Columbia Lions scheduled for August 13 in Vancouver.

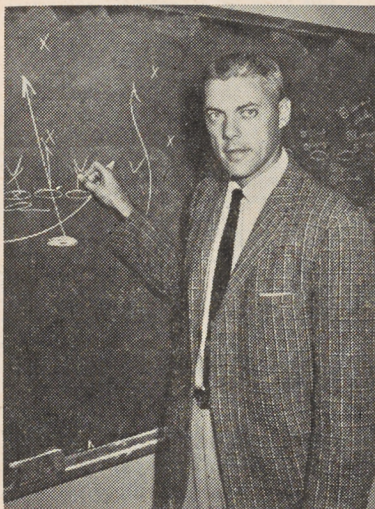

Beginning this week CBWT sportscaster Jack Wells and Winnipeg Blue Bomber coach Bud Grant will be seen in another Wednesday night series of Football Huddle programs. (CBWT-10:15 p.m.).

As on last year's show, Wells and Grant will discuss the plays and strategy that won (or lost) previous games, comment on filmed highlights of these games, diagram regular plays, interview other football experts and attempt to answer viewers' questions.

Again this year the slow-motion camera will be used to pick out key players to illustrate visually their various offensive and defensive jobs. Also the slow-motion ground level camera, which proved so popular with fans last year to assist viewers to follow the intricate plays more closely, will be employed.

On the first program of the season (August 19) there will be filmed highlights from the Blue and Gold game and the Hamilton-Winnipeg exhibition game.

There will also be filmed interviews with popular sports writers and broadcasters presenting their predictions on the outcome of the schedule. Among those taking part are: Jack Matheson (Winnipeg Tribune), Hal Sigurdson (Winnipeg Free Press), Al Vickery (Canadian Press), Johnny Esaw (CKRC's sports director) and Bob Moir (CBW sportscaster). Incidently, Johnny Esaw's predictions were absolutely correct last fall.

Bud Grant

In addition, Andy Currie, Assistant Commissioner of Football, will be on hand to discuss the new rules to be followed this season.

A new feature of Football Huddle this year will be "live" or filmed interviews with players from opposing teams.

Later on in the season Football Huddle will feature a filmed report on the Bombers' new training quarters at Canada Packers in St. Boniface.

Football Huddle is produced by Frank Rassler, producer of Hobby Corner, Royal Visit (to Winnipeg), Art in Action and Moods in Music.

On radio, CBW sports commentator Bob Moir also starts a new season of football programs. Bob Moir on Football will be heard at 7:30 p.m. Thursday nights on CBW. During this series Bob will provide a run-down each week on Western Conference teams and in particular the Winnipeg Blue Bombers (post-game and pre-game). There'll be tape inserts from W.I.F.U. coaches and players who will answer questions concerning their style of football. Over the last two years forty different football personalities have been interviewed on this program.

There will also be pre-game scouting reports, mainly on Winnipeg opponents and Bob will offer predictions on the outcome of all games. Incidentally, his percentage of right calls for two years is 75.

Bob Moir will also have complete coverage of the football picture on his Prairie Sports Final Saturday nights. For daily happenings hear Sports Parade twice daily Monday through Saturday at 7:40 a.m. and Monday through Friday at 6:20 p.m. (CBW only).

Fairfax Show Included In Fall Schedule

The Joan Fairfax Show will be included in CBC television's fall schedule, it was announced today by Robert McCall, supervisor of variety.

Starting October 25, the show will move to 7:30 p.m. EST Sundays.

The Joan Fairfax Show was first seen Monday, July 6, and will continue to be seen Mondays at 8:30 p.m. EDT during the summer.

Joan, backed by an orchestra consisting mainly of women, each week introduces guests from many fields of entertainment.

The format is expected to be changed slightly for the fall, to include "big name" guest artists.

Don Hudson, producer of The Wayne and Shuster Hour, will take over production starting Monday, August 3, following his return from England where he directed two hour-long Wayne and Shuster spectacles for the Granada television network.

How CBC's Audience Research is

Finding Out What People Want

After months of planning, preparation, and publicity for CBC's Royal Tour coverage the question that might arise is. "Was anyone listening or viewing?" And the answer, provided by CBC's audience research division, would be an emphatic yes!

"The data are still coming in, of course, as the tour continues," reports John Johnston, supervisor of audience research in Toronto, "but one special survey we had con-and his family are invited to spend a holiday in the south of France with his wealthy Canadian sister-in-law. The play stars Michael Redgrave, Roger Livesay and Constance Cummings. Others in the cast are Basil Henson, Charles Stapley, Jayne Muir, John Stride, John Taylor, David Toms and Alan Carmel.

Weekend in Sports

Latest happenings and sports scores from the world of sport with Steve Douglas.

Background

An examination of political events and issues, and their backgrounds, with commentator Rick Hart.

ducted indicates that approximately 5¼ million Canadians viewed the historic opening of the Seaway by the Queen and President Eisenhower. An additional 650 thousand heard the ceremonies via CBC radio."

Besides contracting for special surveys of this nature and for regular monthly ratings data with market research firms (audience research does not conduct rating surveys) the research branch of the CBC is called upon to perform many other research tasks. Among the special problems they have been called upon to answer recently were problems relating to the characteristics of the audience for CBC-TV's information program Scan, and the general question of how TV has affected uses of leisure time."

To find the answers to such varied questions important to long-range planners, Neil Morrison, the director of audience research, has recruited a staff of statisticians, psychologists, sociologists, and

CBC Music Director Wins U. of A. Award

The University of Alberta has presented its National Award in Music for 1959 to Geoffrey Waddington, the CBC's Director of Music. The award, for his outstanding contribution to the music in Canada over the past 20 years, was presented to Mr. Waddington at the Banff School of Fine Arts on July 24.

The award is one of a series of three national awards in music, letters and painting and related arts, established five years ago by the University of Alberta.

Previous winners of the award are composer Healey Willan, Sir Ernest McMillan, Saskatoon pianist and teacher Lyell Gustin, Dr. Claude Champagne of Montreal and Dr. Arnold Walter of Toronto.

An engraved gold medal was presented to Mr. Waddington. The award was accompanied by the following citation:

"In Geoffrey Waddington we honour one who for nearly forty years has laboured for the advancement of music in Canada.

"His career may be said to have begun with the award to him in 1921 of a violin scholarship at the Toronto Conservatory. It has brought him to the Directorship of Music of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation; to membership of the Boards of Directors of the Canadian Music Council and the Canadian Music Centre, and of the Board of Honourary Advisers, Canadian Bureau for the Advancement of Music; and to a position of high eminence as a conductor both in Canada and abroad.

"His influence as director and adviser reaches back to those years between 1927 and 1936 when he was on the staff of radio stations CKNC and CRBC; and continues through the period 1947 to 1951, in which he served as music adviser to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. Among his achievements are the organization in 1947 of the CBC Opera

All-Canadian Englishman

Rex Loring is often called the "Englishman with the all-Canadian accent."

Born in England in 1926, Loring came to Canada in 1947, determined to become an announcer. To do this, he went all out to get a Canadian accent. He had got good practice by mixing with Canadians while serving with the RAF during the Second World War and by taking parts with American accents in British dramas. He did part-time acting in Southampton, and in London before joining the RAF. After the war he was an announcer in London on the BBC forces network.

On his arrival in Canada he joined the National Film Board as a technician, but was soon doing film commentary. Before joining the CBC in Toronto in February, 1955, he was an announcer at Ottawa and Peterborough.

Loring reported the party standings for the CBC television coverage of the federal election held in March, 1958. He is seen regularly on the CBC National News Telecast and is the host on Playhouse U.K.

mass media analysts. With the pooling of these many talents at the head office in Ottawa and in offices at the two major production centres of Toronto and Montreal, audience research is geared to relate vital audience information back to the decision makers behind the desks, as well as in the control booths.

The influence of TV on leisure time habits was studied by means of two surveys in Halifax—one survey before and one after television had come to that city. The initial survey was made in December, 1954 and just last December a contingent of audience researchers returned to Halifax to see how four years of television had affected the trumpeter Lou Pollock and vocalist Donna Andert. Ernest Mutimer, producer. From Winnipeg.

Two for Physics

Professors Donald Ivey and Patterson Hume discuss the invisible environment in which man lives, the sea of air, radiation and gravity which mankind must understand to continue to dwell on earth or to travel away from this planet.

CBWT—See—Hear!

This week — “The Curve in the Track.” Life in the town that nearly became the capital of Manitoba, had not the transcontinental track curved south at Selkirk. Produced by Felix Lazarus.

leisure time pursuits of the Haligonians. When the final reports are written on the Halifax study CBC audience research may well make a major contribution to the better understanding of life in Canada in this “age of television.”

“Researching the audience for the local Toronto program Stereo Style was also quite an exciting task,” said Johnston, “because here we were trying to evaluate the impact of something completely new in radio broadcasting. We had some indication from the letters that were sent in that the experimental stereo broadcasts were being received quite enthusiastically. However, we wanted more systematic data than the letters provide. For example, we wanted to learn among other things, about the kind of radios used and the quality of sound that was being received. We had Bill Bessey recruit survey participants for us by asking the listeners to the ninth program in the series to call audience research and leave their names and addresses so we might send them a questionnaire. Well, we soon learned for certain that Stereo Style had built up an enthusiastic following. Seven phones were kept busy for two hours and we received a total of 1,050 calls in addition to over 100 letters which arrived from out-of-town the next day.

“When the questionnaires were returned and tabulated we found a number of interesting facts about this group of enthusiastic listeners. First, they were found to be a rather special kind of people with rather specialized mass media tastes, since percentage-wise there were many more who owned FM radios and fewer who owned TV sets than would be found in the general population. In addition, over half owned either hi-fi or stereo phonograph equipment; an overwhelming majority considered the stereo effect a notable improvement in hi-fi reproduction. The most frequently used set combination during the series was a table model and a console model; the program dealing with serious music and with music from Broadway musicals were best received, and with the exception of Broadway show music, the sample preferred ‘serious’ to ‘light’ music. This description of the tastes and opinions of the really eager stereo fans will be, we feel, an important contribution for future planning of stereo broadcasting on CBC.”

While across the country, columnists, pundits and self-appointed radio and TV critics continue to sound off about audience tastes and opinions, CBC’s audience research team, with its emphasis on the scientific measurement and analysis of audience data, stands as a necessary link between the great Canadian audience and CBC administrators.

PROGRAM NOTES

AUGUST 19

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information.

Rope Around the Sun

Songs and stories of the Old West, with Canada's cowboy troubadour Stu Davis. Today Stu tells the story of Ray who came to the Western frontier as a boy and exhibited throughout a lifetime kindness and love for his fellowmen, and received the ultimate honour one man can bestow upon another from an old Indian friend. Production—Jean Mackay; script—Kerry Wood of Red Deer, Alberta. From Winnipeg.

Shirley Temple Storybook

"The Emperor's New Clothes," with Eli Wallach, Richard Haydn, Pernell Roberts and Barbara Lord. A prince in love with the daughter of a vain emperor enlists the aid of a crafty but kind charlatan to help overcome the Emperor's objections to his suit. Together they teach the extremely clothes conscious ruler a lesson he'll never forget.

Live a Borrowed Life

Charles Templeton

Charles Templeton is moderator as Anna Cameron, Bill Walker, Elwyn Yost and guest panelist try to identify famous characters portrayed by the contestants.

Music Hall

With English comedian Dave King, Vic Schoen's orchestra, the Bill Foster Dancers, and special guests. From New York.

Bat Masterson

Western starring Gene Barry. This week—"Battle of the Pass." Bat Masterson averts a railroad war when he becomes involved in a struggle between two railroads who are fighting for land rights. Wayne Morris is seen as Mace Pomeroy, leader of one of the railroad factions; Will Wright will portray Billy Willow, a grizzled western philosopher, and Emie Meyer will take the role of General Moran, leader of the other railroading group. Rival railroads are racing for possession of Condor Canyon. General Moran's line has secured a court order to keep Mace Pomeroy's railroad out of the pass. Pomeroy defies the injunction and asks for Masterson's help as a track boss. Bat refuses to take the job when Pomeroy ignores an unpaid debt. Bat then offers his services to General Moran and with the aid of Billy Willow finds a quick route to the canyon. There Bat's crew is pinned down by Pomeroy's surprise gunfire.

Studio Pacific

This week—"Scots Wha Hae." Teleplay by Roy Brinson. Starring Ted Stidder as Hamish, Bob Clothier as Angus, Doug Haskins as Donalbane and Virginia Clay as Bessie.

Close-Up

CBCW—Football Huddle

CBC's sportscaster Jack Wells and Winnipeg Blue Bomber coach Bud Grant discuss the coming football season. The program also features film shots of the Hamilton-Winnipeg game. Frank Rassler, producer.

Wednesday on "Close-Up"

A Clairvoyant Authoress

REBECCA WEST, says Time magazine, has "unusually acute instincts and intuitions." Twentieth Century Authors hints at even greater sensitivity (in its own cryptic, rather disjointed way): "Early in 1941, after a series of experiences during the London air raids that seemed to suggest she possessed clairvoyant powers, she (Miss West) went into hospital for a serious operation."

Whatever these experiences may have been, there is no doubt but that Miss West showed remarkable insight into the minds of traitors in her famous work, The Meaning of Treason. In this book which was originally written as a series of articles in the New Yorker, Miss West described the trials of Lord Haw Haw and others for treason. With her "unusually acute instinct and intuitions" she managed to give remarkable depth to these studies of the psychology of treason.

Rebecca West was born Cecily Isabel Fairfield in Ireland. For a short time she worked on the stage and took her pseudonym from the name of the heroine in Ibsen's Rosmersholm. She joined the staff of Freewoman in 1912 and the following year, aged only 20, was made political writer on the Clarion.

At this time she was very active in the fight for woman's suffrage.

Her first literary work was a critical biography of Henry James, but she then went on to write novels, subtle psychological probings of the moods and motives of a wide range of characters, from a shell-shocked soldier to a woman obsessed with wealth. Each novel seems radically different from its successors. One critic sees this as something of a limitation: "Rebecca West is perhaps too changeable to be a really great novelist, but her resources are much too rich to enable her to be merely mediocre."

Until 1930, Miss West had made a reputation as an iconoclast towards marriage. She had, in fact, had a son by H. G. Wells. In 1930, however, she surprised her friends by marrying a prominent banker and, says Twentieth Century Authors, continued to surprise them by staying happily married.

In the thirties and forties Miss West turned from writing novels, believing there were more important literary activities for those disturbed times. From this period came her most ambitious work: a two volume "diary" of her trip through Yugoslavia. Some scholars

Ed and Ross

With Ross Snetsinger, folk-singer Ed McCurdy, and Foster the puppet.

CBWT—Hobby Corner

This week—Two teenagers demonstrate an elaborate H.O. Gauge drag-strip. With this, they hold races and work out theories of racing, etc. Glynne Morris is host.

Woody Woodpecker

This week—"Well Oiled." A traffic cop pursues Woody through a forest of giant redwood trees.

Jazz Parade

Host Bill Walker this week has as guests 11 of Canada's top jazz musicians including Jerry Toth, Roy Smith, Eddie Karam, Hagood Hardy, Ed Bickert and vocalist Anne Marie Moss. The show is a kind of informal almost unrehearsed "jam" session.

Have Gun, Will Travel

Western starring Richard Boone as Paladin. This week—"Heritage of Anger." Paladin escorts the adopted son of a wealthy couple deep into bandit territory to visit his real mother.

Wyatt Earp

Western starring Hugh O'Brian. This week—"The Gold Brick." Wyatt traces a stolen gold brick through a series of sales and re-sales which seem to indicate that many of Dodge City's leading citizens are eager for a fast buck.

Thursday on "Explorations"

Tito of Yugoslavia

Third of four programs in the BBC film series

"Portraits of Power"

"The Demon and Mrs. Devon." A young husband's business future is drastically altered when his wife goes treasure hunting for a Chinese vase.

Explorations

"Portraits of Power" (Part three). Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito is the subject of a discussion by Sir Fitzroy MacLean and Dr. Kurt Martin, Senior lecturer in International Economics at Manchester University. They trace the career of the Yugoslavian dictator and look back over Yugoslavia's history since the assassination of King Alexander.

CLAIRVOYANT AUTHORESS

criticized Black Lamb and Grey Falcon for errors and omissions, but critics generally hailed it as a great study of a country.

In 1957 Miss West published a fascinating book called The Court and the Castle which took a new look at Shakespeare's famous Hamlet. Why do scholars and producers so often treat Hamlet as a weak and vacillating creature? asks Miss West. After all, Hamlet not only kills three people with his own hand, he is sufficiently farsighted to send Rosencratz and Guildenstern to England with a sealed letter containing their own death warrants.

Miss West suggests that, though we all see part of ourselves in Hamlet, it's a part that we don't like to face—our own taint and corruption—so we guild the whole thing, turning the ruthless Hamlet into a procrastinator and the disreputable Ophelia into a sweet girl who has a nervous breakdown.

In 1956 Miss West published her first novel in twenty years. The Fountain Overflows, which again met with considerable acclaim, told the story "of a family of artists, good and bad, disciplined and eccentric, but all tumultuously articulate" and seen through the eyes of a child. The book "looks with steady, unintimidated eye at the huge, humorous, disturbing spectacle of human experience," said the Saturday Review . . . "the firm, uncompromising vigour of Rebecca West's thought, eluding the dreadful by association with the generous, is proof of her quality."

Miss West herself has been described as "slender, dark-eyed, temperamental, extremely femining, moody, but with a delightful sense of humour. The only thing that may be infallibly expected of her is the unexpected."

On Wednesday Charles Templeton interviews Miss West on Close-Up. Daryl Duke produced this film in England.

Understatement has its virtues; it makes for caution and accuracy. Yet it can, I think, in its own way, be just as extreme and impoverishing as overstatement. Words, after all, are meant for communication, and if we cannot be free and easy in our words, we will never be free or easy in our relations either to God or man.—The Irish poet W. R. Rodgers, on BBC.

Great Movies

This week—"The Thin Man," with William Powell and Myrna Loy. This was first of a series of mystery comedies based on the adventures of Dashiell Hammett's husband and wife detective team Nick and Nora Charles. Fred Davis is host.

Weekend in Sport

The latest happenings and sports scores from the world of sport with Steve Douglas. From Toronto.

Prairie Playhouse

• It seems a pity to spoil a good story for the sake of such a dull thing as accuracy, but in Six Horse Parley (on Prairie Playhouse) there was no need for the bookie to buy the bet at $1,000. The action would automatically stop when the bookie's limit (usually 15 to 1) had been reached, so that the bettor would receive $150 plus his original $10—$160 in all, regardless of what happened to the remainder of his mythical parley. Certainly no bookie in his right mind would pay out that fantastic sum for a $10 bet. This is a minor point, but it is physically impossible to give the result and the pay-off all in one breath, more especially when a foul has been claimed. The judge must review a film of the race, and then a few minutes while the accounting department gets the pay-off posted.—F. P., Toronto.

We don't know, but it sounds like a good bet.

Summer Fallow

• Thank you so much for the heartwarming story, Five Cents for Luck on Summer Fallow tonight. It is one of the nicest plays I have heard on the series, and it will not be forgotten. We enjoy the Summer Fallow plays much more than the documentaries.—Mrs. L. R. McKee, Melfort, Sask.

Royal Visit

• My family and I have just returned from our vacation in the United States and upon returning have heard several fine compliments regarding the television coverage of the Royal Visit to Winnipeg. I am sure there must be hundreds more like myself who would like to see a repeat of this memorable occasion. Would you kindly consider my request and at a time suitable for children's viewing? —F. B. J., Winnipeg, Manitoba.

We have received a few letters and several phone calls in this regard and our Program Department is in the process of scheduling a repeat of this broadcast in the early fall.

Performer's Showcase

• A most enjoyable 15 minutes on Performer's Showcase, Monday, July 27th. What a sweet and beautiful voice Sylvia Saurette has! We would like to hear that lovely voice again soon in some English songs. Of course, needless to say how much Chester Duncan is enjoyed always. — A. I., Banff, Alberta.

The Show That Jack Built

• Cheers for Jimmy Morrison! While watching your show tonight I was very pleased when Jimmy, whom I have been lucky enough to see on television a couple of other times, appeared. I hope to see a lot more of him in the near future. Also I wonder if you would please tell where I could write to him. I would be most grateful. — Bonnie Vines, Oromocto, New Brunswick.

Jimmy Morrison's address is 21655, Wilson Town Line Road, R.R. No. 5, Langley, British Columbia.

Voices of the Past

• For the first time yesterday evening I listened to Voices of the Past by Ronald Hambleton and I would like to say that I thought it a superb piece of broadcasting in its choice and execution.—E. W., Banff, Alberta.

MUSIC ON RADIO

by FRANK HAWORTH of Toronto

A WORK such as Mendelssohn's Octet (to be played in Sunday morning's Chamber Music program by the Montreal String Octet), from the circumstances of its genesis and creation, is of great interest to the student of psychological and anthropological phenomena, no less than to the musician. For, with its high level of creative inspiration, conveyed with mastery of technical resource, it is the work of a boy of 16—one of the very small group of acknowledged master-works, which have passed into the standard repertory, composed at such an age. (It is not really any derogation of it to point out that works for string octet are scarce, anyway; so are string octets, and it is not too much to assume that such groups have been brought into being before now expressly to play it—in itself a tribute to its quality).

Now those among us who are, or have been teachers (not to say parents), are aware of both the general level of achievement of even bright 16-year-olds, and the time it takes to acquire even an amateur degree of skill, in artistic and technical activities; so we can, perhaps arrive at a more immediate appreciation of the power of the mysterious force of genius, as manifest in a youngster like Mendelssohn, than when we encounter it in a more mature person, at a period of development more remote from our observation. This circumstance of early development, moreover, prompts speculation about the nature of musical genius, lending colour to the theory that it involves a faculty for the unreflective, intuitive summing up of the requirements of the art, and for unconsciously making the necessary physical and mental adjustments to meet them.

Further, it is surely not entirely fortuitous that so many geniuses who developed early also died early (Purcell, Mozart, Schubert, Mendelssohn, to name a few only), while others seemed to exhaust their special powers at an early age, and to subside into comparative mediocrity. (Mendelssohn's own powers suffered some decline towards the end of his short life.) Does this suggest a kind of time-scale in the working of musical genius? It would almost seem that genius operates for a limited time only, in some cases at any rate.

Speculation of another kind is suggested by the music of Lennox Berkeley, whose Trio for Horn, Violin and Piano and Sonatina for Violin and Piano are to be heard in the Western Artists concert on Monday, from Lea Foli, violin, Robert Creech, horn, and Hugh McLean, piano—speculation on the nature of that much-debated phenomenon, nationalism in music. For Berkeley, despite his pupilage with the renowned Nadia Boulanger in Paris, is unquestionably an English composer, born, resident and active in England; and no less unquestionably he is a composer of standing, in a traditionally-founded style. According to current theory, this should make him an "English" composer, too — one whose work should be saturated with the quality and feeling of a well established tradition, to the continuing influence of which he is presumably exposed. Yet in the music of his that I have heard there is little trace of such quality and feeling—of anything that I at any rate would recognize as a specifically "English" character. (I hasten to add that it is very agreeable music nevertheless.) But then, just what is the "English" character in music—or POSTMARK U.K.

Following Sam Pollock's "News From Home" Arthur Bush visits "Walton-on-Thames." Of the many small towns on the Thames, Walton is perhaps one of the most delightful. Although it's quite close to London, it has remained unspoiled, with all the unhurried atmosphere of a quiet English country town. The stretch of river there, which plays a large part in preserving this rural quality, is one of the best courses for rowing in the country, and many crews practice on it, as do individual contestants for races such as the famous Diamond Sculls. Walton is by no means an industrial town, but its nearness to London has made it ideal

TRANS-CANADA MATINEE

Young Life Camp. Malibu Lodge, on Princess Louisa inlet 90 miles north of Vancouver was built as a posh millionaires' resort. Today, it's a camp for teenagers. Elinor Glen, Vancouver freelance broadcaster, talks about the transformation and the people responsible for it.

Eastward by Cargo BOA. Near the end of May, Harriet Hill and her husband left Montreal on a trip that would last two months and take them to Portugal, Spain, Italy, Greece, Lebanon, Syria and Egypt, by cargo boat. They returned recently. Today, in the first of three Matinee talks, Mrs. Hill talks about traveling on a freighter, the cost, the accommodation, and the people who were her fellow passengers. Mrs. Hill is a columnist with the Montreal Gazette.

My Husband's Hats. A new hat is often a great morale-booster for a woman. And an old, beaten-down, dust-covered fedora is usually an object of affection for a man. Winnipeg housewife and freelance broadcaster Kathleen Strange reflects on the peculiar ways of a man with his hat.

Alcoholism. A member of Alcoholics Anonymous, the organization in which alcoholics help each other and themselves, is Nancy Battagello's first guest in this series of interviews to explore the many aspects of alcoholism. Mrs. Battagello and her guest discuss the organization, its aims and purposes, its successes and failures. Her guest also talks about himself and how AA has helped him overcome his problem. Mrs. Battagello is the CBC's morning commentator in Windsor.

Daily Features . . . Today's news commentary is by Margaret Prang of Vancouver. Baritone Charles Jordan offers some songs, and Ian Thorne of Vancouver reads an excerpt from "Journey Without Maps" by Grahame Greene, adapted for radio by Sally Creighton.

SUMMER FALLOW

This week—"The Rural Editor," by James Bannerman. To a man used to the hustle and bustle of the news room in a city daily newspaper office, the job of editing a rural weekly might seem a pretty soft touch. But in tonight's play one city news man finds he's in for a few surprises when he takes over a weekly. The story is built around a small rural community and the editor of its weekly paper, the Peterville Courier-Gazette.

CBW-8:30 p.m. CBK-8:30 p.m. CBX-7:30 p.m.

KATHY KASPER

sings ballads with the Max Chamitov Trio Monday morning on "Performer's Showcase," which comes this week from Montreal.

Alan Mills Back from Britain

Folk Singer Alan Mills wants more of Canada's English and French folksongs sung in Britain.

"I was heartened to find that people in Britain were interested in our songs," he said on his recent return from Britain, "but I was disappointed that they knew so little about them."

Mr. Mills flew to England in May at the invitation of the English Folk Song and Dance Society to give a recital of Canadian folksongs at Cecil Sharp House, in London. While in the United Kingdom he gave a series of concerts in four schools and met many people with a view to stimulating a greater interest in Canadian songs.

Now back in Canada he resumes his CBC radio program, Folk Songs for Young Folk on August 30.

VOICES OF THE PAST

Prepared and introduced by Ronald Hambleton; readings from literature pertaining to a chosen subject. This week — "Chaucer," as seen by

Tuesday on "Four's Company"

John Hershey's "Hiroshima"

The story of the first atomic bomb attack—in three episodes on CBC radio—Saturdays and Tuesdays

THEY were all going about their business as usual in Hiroshima that morning of August 6, 1945, most of them scarcely thinking about the little decisions that were to mean life or death for them . . . taking one bus instead of the next, going indoors for no special reason, or suddenly stepping this way or that.

At 8:15 Dr. Masakazu Fujii had just settled down on the verandah of his private hospital to read a newspaper for a few minutes before beginning his rounds of the day. Mrs. Hatsuyo Nakamura, a tailor's widow, was taking time off Dryden, Coleridge, Caxton, Blake and Chaucer himself.

An Opera in an Office

John Reeves presents "Three's Company," a chamber opera for three singers by Anthony Hopkins

Three's Company is a chamber opera—three singers and a piano. It tells of a small business with a domineering senior partner, Mr. W. Three (baritone); a Mr. Love, a lovably inefficient junior partner (tenor) and a sweet secretary, Miss Honey.

The story takes place in a series of flashbacks in the mind of Mr.

English village called Tilden, and was a staunch monarchist. And he didn't like clergymen—because he thought, being a little deaf, that he heard one day during a sermon a slighting reference to the Queen. So the villagers were not too surprised, another day, when Mr. Marlow stoned the Bishop. Rachel Wyatt, who once lived in Tilden and now lives in Toronto, tells all.

Three Score Years and Then? For the last five weeks on Matinee, Elizabeth Mascall has been reviewing the many aspects of growing old—the problems encountered by older persons, the adjustments they must make to their families and their communities, and the compensations that are offered them. Today, to sum up, Mrs. Mascall interviews Dr. Cope Schwenger, medical officer of health of Dufferin County, who tells how a community of older persons organized to help themselves. This series has been prepared by Mrs. Mascall, a housewife, critic, writer and broadcaster, in collaboration with Mrs. Jean Good, a specialist on gerontology and director of the Ontario Society on Ageing.

Love. He first appears on the verge of suicide, a rope around his neck, a revolver in one hand, poison bottle in the other, and standing on a high balcony. Desperately searching for "One Last Word"—the first line of the opera—he recalls scene by scene the events, happy and unhappy, which have brought him to this sorry condition. Thus, the first scene takes place a month ago, the second a week ago, and the third when the two time planes converge with dramatic and startling results.

"This," someone once remarked, "makes a change from Tristan."

Anthony Hopkins wrote Three's Company for the British Intimate Opera Company. The BBC televised it some years ago and now Canadians can hear the radio version on CBC Wednesday Night.

In an article in the BBC Radio Times, Mr. Hopkins told of the beginnings of Three's Company.

"When I took over the direction of Intimate Opera, a company which has been in existence over twenty years, the main change in policy which I initiated was to arrange for the provision of a new sort of opera specially tailored for our measurements. The greater part of our engagements take place in small halls all over the country and our opportunities of working with an orchestra are practically nonexistent. Why couldn't we have operas written to be performed under these circumstances, and intended by the composer to be accompanied by piano only?

"With this in mind I approached several other composers as well as deciding to write such a work myself. The idea of the story came to me largely as a result of thinking of the most economical set available. Singers usually possess black jackets and striped trousers—men singers that is—and this made me decide that my opera should take place either in a doctor's consulting room, a bank, a lawyer's office, or a business concern. Any of these could be represented on the stage with a minimum of furnishings. We only travel with a few small props; furniture is borrowed as we go.

"The company works with three singers and my perverted sense of humour started to play around with the words 'Company,' 'Three,' 'Company equals business concern,' 'Three singers, three's company' and so on . . .

"Any similarity between Three's Company and a normal opera is entirely co-incidental," Hopkins concludes. "It is virtually an attempt to create a new form, an opera that steers an erratic course between revue, musical comedy, and the dramatic aria. If approached without operatic bias I think I can safely promise an hour of musical entertainment of an unusual kind. Certainly, audiences all over the country have responded with enthusiasm and, I am happy to say, loud laughter."

CBC radio producer John Reeves will produce the Wednesday Night presentation of Three's Company. "This is one of those rare operas with only one set," says Reeves, "and hence is particularly suited to radio presentation. Perhaps the last thing done on CBC at all comparable to Three's Company was the television presentation of Menotti's The Telephone. The singer who played the role of the woman in that opera, by the way, was Evelyn Gould. Miss Gould will also play the part of Miss Honey in Wednesday's Three's Company. I am particularly pleased to have her in the opera along with William McGrath (who plays Mr. Love) and Alex Gray (Mr. Three)."

and what Canadian does not recall nostalgically the berry-picking, picnicking expeditions of his youth? To conclude his nature study series for Matinee, Kerry Wood talks about berries—the wild ones that may be successfully transplanted to home gardens—the high bush cranberry, the mountain ash, the wild currant, the pincherry, and the many others that make delicious jams and jellies and that give beauty, flowers and bird-shelter to home gardens.

Island Farm. For the benefit of city children who are said to believe that milk comes from a bottle and eggs from a carton, there's a farm at Toronto's Center Island. Dixieland Music From Peterborough Dixieland music, Chicago style, goes out on the CBC Dominion Network from CHEX, Peterborough, Saturday nights. Saturday Swing features the Del Crary Octet with songs by Geoff Ryson.

"The music is to be strictly informal for a lightly swinging show," says CHEX Program Director Bill Williamson, who produces the show.

During and after the war Del Crary (saxophone) travelled in Italy, France, Belgium, Holland and Germany as sergeant-leader of a big band show with the Canadian Army. After the war he came to Peterborough where he formed his own orchestra with work in nightclubs and radio. In 1955 he joined CHEX as an announcer.

Others in the outfit are:

- Clarinet: Bob Kinsman, veteran of Canadian Army shows and now Commercial Manager of CHEX-TV;

- Saxophone: Don Forde, local bandsman for twenty years and Chief Instructor (Civilian) of the Air Cadets Trumpet Band, Peterborough;

- Trombone: Bruce Mills, an insurance salesman who has played with dance bands all over Ontario;

- Pianist: George Navotny, a native of Czechoslovakia who before coming to Canada in 1952 played on Czech radio;

- Bass - guitar: ex - navy and player, dance band player and teacher of guitar, Paul Konkle has his own dry-cleaning business in Peterborough;

Company and in 1952 of the CBC Symphony Orchestra.

"As conductor, his beginnings lie in the years 1923 to 1926, in which he taught at the Toronto Conservatory and trained in the ranks of the Symphony. During the decade which lay between his two periods of service to broadcast music he conducted a number of orchestras which included, from 1938 to 1940, the Winnipeg Symphony.

"As director, adviser and conductor he has over the years made an outstanding contribution to the recognition and the performance of the work of Canadian composers.

"To the honorary doctorate conferred on him in 1956 by Dalhousie University, we have pleasure in adding the University of Alberta's National Award in Music."

TRANS-CANADA MATINEE

Aparthied. Nadine Grodimer, who lives in Johannesburg, has been one of the most acute observers of the policy of apartheid, segregation of the races in the Union of South Africa. Her article, which appeared originally in "Holiday" magazine, defines the lines and probes the pockets of the emotional conflict now going on in South Africa. The article was adapted for radio by Doris Mosdell and is read by Diana Maddox, a Toronto actress.

Sing Me a Game. Play-acting, make-believe, has always been a favourite pastime with children. In the fifth of her series about singing games, noted folk song authority Edith Fowke talks about the games of make-believe that children play and lets her listeners hear the songs that go with them.

Daily Features . . . Today's news commentary is by Muriel Armstrong of Montreal. Jacques Desbaillets plays some more of his favourite recordings and Ian Thorne of Vancouver reads another excerpt from "Journey Without Maps" by Grahame Greene, adapted for radio by Sally Creighton.

CBW-8:33 p.m. CBK-3:33 p.m. CBX-2:33 p.m.

POST-NEWS TALK

Seven Days Before the Mast," a humorous talk by the well-known BBC broadcaster J. B. Boothroyd. Sailing in the shallow waters called Norfolk Broads is a popular summer sport in England, but what happens if a breeze doesn't materialize? According to Mr. Boothroyd, who details some of his own frustrations, it can cause the longest holiday on record.

CBW-9:20 p.m. CBK-8:20 p.m. CBX-7:20 p.m.

HERSHEY'S "HIROSHIMA"

during and after the bombing in one of the most gripping, intimate records of the Second World War. In spare, sure style he pictured the lives and feelings of these people as they moved through the horror of attack to the long, painful, sad period of recuperation and readjustment. So compelling was his tale, in which not a scene, fact or character was invented, that the New Yorker devoted a whole issue to it. It was later published in book form under the title of Hiroshima. And starting Saturday, August 15, the radio series Four's Company will present Hiroshima in three weekly instalments, read by the four regulars on the show . . . Mavor Moore, John Drainie, Ruth Springford and Diana Maddox, joined on this occasion by two guests, one of whom will be Al Pearce. The rebroadcasts will be heard Tuesday afternoons (August 18, 25, and September 1).

The BBC's Third Program presented Hiroshima some years ago, and parts of it were featured on American television, "but," says producer John Reeves "this is its first full presentation in Canada, as far as I know. It's a good and important book, extremely timely with our present concern about fall-out, and lends itself excellently to the style of Four's Company. It's interesting that the date of our first reading, August 15, falls on the anniversary of the day Emperor Hirohito broadcast to his people for the first time, to announce the decision that Japan would surrender to the Allies."

John Hershey knows the Oriental character from first-hand experience. He was born in Tientsin, China, in 1914, the son of a Y.M.C.A. secretary, and spoke Chinese fluently before he knew English. When he was 10 the family returned to the United States, where he graduated from Yale and then studied for a year at Cambridge. His burning ambition was to work on Time magazine. While waiting for an opening he was secretary and assistant to novelist Sinclair Lewis, then wrote for both Time and Life, and was war correspondent for them on both fronts. His first novels all had war settings . . . Into the Valley ('43) took place in Guadalcanal; A Bell For Adano ('44) was set in Italy, won the Pulitzer Prize in 1945, and was made into a stage play and a movie; and Hiroshima ('46) was described as "a tour de force, and model of objective and accurate reporting."

THIS WEEK'S MUSIC

the French, or the German, or the Canadian, for that matter?

Item . . . operatic enterprises of a humorous, sardonic or satirical character are sufficiently rare to ensure a special welcome for Three's Company, described by its composer, Anthony Hopkins, as a "light-hearted opera," which is to be heard on CBC Wednesday Night. It is set in a business office, has three characters only, and its title enshrines an ingenious twist which promises some deeply satisfying entertainment . . .
